MOMO IN GT2:

Bobbi and Melo take the Drivers' Championship
AF Corse takes the Teams' Championship
Ferrari takes the Manufacturers' Cup

After Adria event, Matteo Bobbi and Jaime Melo are the GT2 Champion Drivers. With two wins this season, in Silverstone and Dijon, as well as second-place finishes at Spa, Mugello and Hungary, Bobbi and Melo have scored points in every round.

Although this is a first title for Jaime Melo of Brazil, it is Matteo Bobbi's second victory, after he claimed the 2003 FIA GT1 Championship in 2003, with BMS Scuderia Italia.

"It has been a very emotional day," Bobbi said. "It might not be the best way to conclude the battle, but the Championship is the Championship, and I am very glad to have another one in my pocket. Now we can go to Dubai with no pressure. I think the team, Jaime and I have done an unbelievable job this year. MOMO has been supplying us with excellent products, developing them further during the season. Really top performance and impressive style."

To complete this success, the Teams' Championship went to AF Corse and the Manufacturers' Cup to Ferrari. A great result!
